Law and War: An International Humanitarian Law Workshop

hosted at

DePaul University College of Law

Dates Friday, October 15 - October 17, 2010

Deadlines Applications must be submitted by September 15, 2010

Location DePaul College of Law, 25 E. Jackson Blvd, Room 905 (Lewis), Chicago, Illinois 60604

Content This workshop features lectures and hands-on exercises that guide participants through an intensive examination of international humanitarian law (IHL) with a focus on its application to combatants and civilians. Sessions will be led by legal professionals from the ICRC, law professors, and international law practitioners. Topics include:

- Introduction to IHL
- The Role of the ICRC
- Means and Methods of Warfare
- Protection of Civilians under IHL
- Non-state Actors and Direct Participation in Hostilities
- Enforcement of IHL

Eligibility The workshop is available to full- and part-time law students who are attending a U.S. law school as of the date of the program who have successfully completed at least one year of full- or part-time study. Students will be expected to attend all sessions of the entire program. Students who complete the workshop will receive a Certificate of Completion from the ICRC.

Costs This workshop and the course materials are provided at no cost to accepted applicants. Students will be responsible for their own transportation, lodging, and food. However, some meals may be provided by the program organizers or other program sponsors.

Application Applications are available at law.depaul.edu/ihrli, in the IHRLI offices, or by email on request.

Registration is limited and competitive. Completed applications, including a statement of interest, must be received by IHRLI by email, fax or mail no later than September 15, 2010. Acceptance decisions will be made based on applicants' relevant course and field experience and the statement of interest. Applicants will be notified of acceptance by September 25, 2010.
